Attleboro Broke Cong Stronghold

LONG BINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. action of the Viet Nam war, cracked open one of the toughest and oldest of the Viet Cong's strongholds.

That is the judgment of Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who directed the 43-day operation involving some 25,000 American soldiers in the tangled jungles of Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

"We started the end of War Zone C as a sanctuary for the VC," Weyand said in an interview at his headquarters here.

"War Zone C will never be the same."

The Communists have controlled the area stretching to the Cambodian border for 20 years or more.

The general did not claim that the Viet Cong's hold on Zone C has been broken. But he predicted that "eventually, area Zone C will no longer be a base area for them."

Operation Attleboro was declared ended last Saturday with a claimed bag of more than 1,100 Communist regulars killed and nearly 2,400 tons of all-important rice captured, plus hoards of other supplies.

Weyand said he decided to call off the operation because it no longer was worth the heavy resources assigned to it — elements of two U.S. Army divisions, parts of two brigades and a tank regiment.

In Weyand's view, the swift concentration of U.S. fighting power probably thwarted the opening of an extensive autumn offensive, possibly aimed at thrusting down into Hau Nghia Province to the west of Saigon.

"We completely fouled that up," the general said.

Now that Attleboro is history, the major American units which were drawn into the battle have returned to the jobs they were doing when the call came.

Some are seeking out provincial and local Viet Cong units and turning to pacification around Saigon.

Koreas Raid South Korean Fishing Fleet

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Four North Korean gunboats fired on a group of South Korean fishing boats on the east coast, south of the military demarcation line today and abducted South Korean fishermen, Seoul's radio Donga reported.

The broadcast said the Communist navy craft surrounded about 30 South Korean fishing boats and fired an unknown number of shells. It said the incident took place about 1 p.m.

The broadcast said the Communists seized the 10-ton Bokung Ho and her skipper, Hwang Kyung-hi, along with seven other fishermen and then fled north.

South Korean navy patrol boats rushed to the scene, the broadcast said. It added that three other South Korean fishing boats were reported missing and feared to have been taken by the Communists.

No official comment was available from either the South Korean government or the U.N. Command.

Cong Dread Bomber Raids Most of All

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, aware the Viet Cong fear sudden bombing attacks most, has almost doubled the force of B52s flying missions over North Vietnam.

Sources said today about 20 of the big bombers have joined the 30-plane fleet of Stratofortresses based on Guam, 2,000 miles from South Vietnam.

Plans are to step up bombing raids against Communist troop concentrations and supply areas.

Informed sources say interrogation of captured Viet Cong shows the guerrillas dread the unexpected rain of bombs more than any hardship or war tactic, including encounters with U.S. ground troops.

The explanation for this is that the guerrillas are fairly successful in avoiding combat with American units. But they get no warning from the high-flying B52s and, unless they are near reinforced underground tunnels, have no way to evade the 500-pound and 750-pound bombs.

Probe GE Blast Fatal to Workman

CINCINNATI (AP) — The death of a 21-year-old workman has lent added impetus to investigators trying to learn the cause of an explosion and fire at the huge General Electric Co. jet engine plant.

The explosion Saturday night injured 17 workmen. Most of them escaped with slight burns but Jesse Walden of Hamilton, was burned over 85 per cent of his body and died Monday.

$4 Million Fire Hits Prison Area

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Fire destroyed the industrial area of the Lebanon Correctional Institution near here today and Supt. R. W. Alvis estimated loss at $4 million.

None of the 1,286 inmates as hurt and about 300 workers in the area got out safely. The industrial area covers a little less than four acres.

The prisoners were taken to their living quarters, some distance away from the scene of the fire.

Firemen from nine communities in Butler and Warren counties were rushed to the scene through swirling snow and over slick roads.

Alvis said the fire was believed to have started by a spark from a welder's torch in the paint shop. At 10:30 a.m., firemen believed they had the fire under control but drums and barrels of paint still were exploding, pouring dense black smoke over the area.

Four shops in the industrial area were destroyed. Alvis said the roof had caved in and the walls were shifting.

The fire knocked out all electrical service to the institution and most of the telephone lines. Workers had to operate electric gates to the institution grounds by hand in order to allow fire trucks to enter.

Buildings destroyed houses, the auto license plate shop, the road sign shop, the bed shop and the chair shop.

Officials said stored propane gas also offered a threat.

The flames spread rapidly, after it broke out at 8:30 a.m., and some time later the roof of the paint shop collapsed.

The prison was completed in 1960, one of the major units in Ohio's planned prison building program.

Prison officials appealed to fire departments at Dayton and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base for foam trucks to assist in fighting the blaze.

All heat and power at the prison was shut off. Firemen from Lebanon, and nearby communities including Mason, Franklin and Monroe were summoned to the scene.

The minimum security institution is on Ohio 63, a short distance east of Interstate 75 where traffic was hampered this morning because of a snowfall.

Maury Koblenz, head of the Ohio Division of Correction, said the license tag shop has produced eight million of the 10.5 million vehicle license tags planned for issuance next year.

A NORFOLK AND WESTERN train encountered mechanical difficulty Monday at about 4 p. m., blocking the West Main and the West High St. crossings for 90 minutes.

Traffic on Main St. was backed up to the First Methodist Church, according to city police. And "almost to Williamsport" in the other direction, according to one irate motorist who came in from the west.

Surviving Quint Passes 1st Crisis

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Kicking and active, tiny Roni Sue Aranson passed the first crisis in her struggle for survival today, bolstering the hopes of her parents and doctors that at least one of Pittsburgh's quintuplets would live.

The sounds of cries from the infant declared her to be free from the respiratory difficulty which claimed the lives of her four sisters within 56 hours of their birth Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Aranson, both 22.

Doctors said Roni Sue's survival past the 72-hour mark — at 2:41 a.m. today — ended her first crisis.

Major Expansion Due At Du Pont Facility

New Snow Creates Ohio Road Hazards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter's second November blast hurled one to five inches of snow at Ohio today, hitting hardest at a band of counties along Lake Erie.

Traffic accidents on slippery roads claimed five lives, three of them in a single accident.

Up to six inches of snow was expected before nightfall.

Schools closed in Bowling Green and in Wood, Henry and Putnam counties. Streets and highways were slick and snow, but all were open. The state highway department sent 743 crews onto roads pouring salt and sand and scraping snow.

The heaviest snow was in extreme northeastern an extreme northwestern Ohio. Toledo reported five inches at 7 a.m. So did Erie, Pa., near the Ohio line in the northeast.

Cleveland had three inches, Akron, Youngstown, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati, two inches each.

The storm was the first general snow of the winter, following by less than four weeks a blizzard which smacked the eastern third of the state.

Snow contributed to a truck-train crash which killed three members of an Ashtabula family and a car-train crash which killed an Akron teen-ager. A road grader accident near Celina took another life.

A quick freeze early Monday evening started the round of severe weather. Sleet hardened on pavement and vehicle windshields and rashes of traffic accidents were reported in various spots from Cincinnati to Columbus to Akron and Toledo, with the Glass City particularly suffering.

Light snow and strong wind followed the freezing sleet.

Dozens of traffic mishaps, mostly minor, plagued the Toledo area including one "spectacular."

A Greyhound bus, a tractor-trailer and three cars collided on the Detroit-Toledo Expressway, iced over by the sudden freeze.

Eighteen of the 32 bus passengers and Greyhound driver Howard Lambert, 49, of Cincinnati were taken to Riverside Hospital for checkups which disclosed no major injuries. The bus was enroute from Toronto, Ont., to Miami, Fla.

Poor visibility by the truck driver and the train engineer due to heavy snow was cited by Ashtabula police investigating the wreck that killed three at a city crossing.

The victims were Francis C. Adley, 49, of Ashtabula; his son Edward, 18, and daughter Mary Elizabeth, 13. A freight hit the truck Adley was driving.

Ohio 4-H Girl Named Winner at National Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — One 4-H Club member from Ohio has been named a national winner at the 45th National 4-H Club Congress here.

She is Mary Martin, 18, of Route 3, Coshocton, awarded a $500 educational scholarship given by Tupperware in the National 4-H Home Management Program.

Juliana Kromer, 18, of near Sandusky, Ohio's dress revue state winner, was to participate in the national dress revue here today. She attends Aquinas College in Michigan and plans to major in history and later teach secondary school in Ohio. Her entry was a plum-and-white wool plaid sheath dress and jacket with a dark plum velvet hat.

Another Ohioan is scheduled for appearances at the 4-H program-Rebecca Alkire of Circleville, "Miss American Teen-ager."

Winter Suddenly Becomes for Real

A 2½-inch snowfall during the night, with an expected accumulation of three or four inches today, put Pickaway Countians in a mood for "dreaming of a white Christmas."

Highways remained covered throughout the morning hours as service crews attempted to keep up with the snowfall. City, county and state departments raced to an early start on their snow removal chores, making every effort to keep major thoroughways open to traffic.

The sudden snow appearance caused no apparent hardships, except for motorists braving the elements. All city and county schools were in session although a couple of buses reported in late due to a reduction in speed prompted by snow-covered highways.

Today's snowfall was the second of the season. The first occurred Nov. 1 when more than an inch was recorded during a pre-seasonal blast of cold air from Canada. This accumulation, however, melted by mid-morning.

THE WEATHERMAN noted today's wintry installment was going to stay for a while. More snow is forecast throughout the day, tonight and Wednesday. Gusts winds are expected to cause some drifting.

The wintry weather started Monday morning with occasional snow mixed with rain. By nightfall the white stuff was

Wilson Seeks U.S. Backing On Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson sent high-level envoys to Washington and Salisbury today—seeking U.S. backing for possible economic sanctions against Rhodesia while still searching for a compromise with its white minority regime.

Wilson met with his Cabinet but held off making a final decision on whether to break with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Sir Saville Garner, the top-ranking career diplomat in the Commonwealth office, took off for Washington to seek U.S. backing in any move to bring down the Smith government through compulsory sanctions.

A deadline was approaching for Britain to carry out its commitment to the Commonwealth to end the rebellion or take it to the United Nations Security Council before the end of the year.

Wilson promised Commonwealth leaders last month to apply for U.N. sanctions unless Smith came through by Nov. 30 with an acceptable program for eventual transfer of power from Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to the colony's 4 million Africans.

Wilson and key members of his Cabinet agreed Monday that minor concessions offered by Smith Saturday did not meet Britain's terms.

Mud, Rain, Flood, Snow Choke Italy

ROME (AP) — After one day of sunshine, rain returned today to flood-stricken Italy.

Milan had its first snow of the year, for four hours. Snow was general in the Dolomites and the northern third of the Apennine chain. In the plains and south from mud-mired Florence to Sicily it rained.

The Italian Riviera and the Tyrrhenian coast were battered by a heavy storm.

Rainwater caused Florence's saturated sewers to overflow, pouring mud onto the streets. Heavy rains also fell over the delta of the Po River, still flooded by the salt waters of the Adriatic.

New Project To Provide 150 Jobs

Plans for a major expansion in production of "Mylar" polyester film, through installation of new facilities and modernization at its plant at Circleville, have been disclosed by the Du Pont Co.

The program will be the third major expansion since the plant started producing film here in 1954.

The project at Circleville will require about 400 men at the peak of construction. The modernization program, when completed, will provide more than 150 new production jobs.

Output of "Mylar" from this plant will be increased by more than 40 per cent when the proposed work is completed, Allden D. Bray, plant manager, said. The new facilities are scheduled for start-up within 18 months.

The expansion and modernization at Circleville will incorporate significant technological advances from Du Pont's continuing research on polyester films. This construction will greatly increase the capability to manufacture new and modified types of "Mylar" film, engineered to meet the specific needs of customers.

"Mylar" is widely used in packaging and in industrial applications such as magnetic recording tapes, capacitor dielectrics, wire and cable insulation, motor insulation, engineering reproduction, graphic arts and office supply products.

In addition to the Circleville plant, Du Pont manufactures "Mylar" at Florence, S. C., and at a plant in Luxembourg which serves important markets in Europe.

Raise Ends School Strike At Hubbard

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Hubbard students return to school today after their teachers were granted a $530-a-year pay hike, ending a strike that started last Monday.

The opening of four schools in Hubbard followed by one day the return to school of 28,000 students in Youngstown, where striking teachers reached an agreement Saturday for a collective bargaining to be held in 1968.

There are 3,700 students in nearby Hubbard's four schools. The 145 Hubbard teachers will get $470 in salary and the rest in retirement benefits, the total amounting to about $530. The teachers had asked for an annual $600 increase.

Present wage scales in Hubbard range from $4,700-a-year for starting teachers to $8,084 for teachers with 13 years' experience and master's degrees.

Jury To Determine Speck's Competence

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury of seven men and five women was selected Monday to determine whether Richard F. Speck is competent to stand trial on charges of murdering eight student nurses.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen of the Circuit Court recessed the hearing until today when a panel of psychiatrists who have examined Speck was to begin testimony.

Jury To Probe Sheppard Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Five persons, including Samuel H. Sheppard, have been ordered to testify before the Cuyahoga County grand jury Friday in the unsolved murder of Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, 12 years ago.

County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, who directed the prosecution in a murder trial in which Sheppard was acquitted 13 days ago, was asked the purpose of the special grand jury investigation.

"Sheppard has been making statements and his lawyer has been making statements. That is all I will say about it at this time," Corrigan said.

Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, said Monday that he would be in Cleveland for the grand jury session. He had hinted during the trial that Marilyn was killed by someone familiar with the Sheppard home.

Last week, he told a City Club audience that he had written a 15-page letter to Bay Village Police Chief Fred Drenkhan, indicating who killed Marilyn Sheppard and what the motive was. Bailey demanded that the investigation be reopened.

Drenkhan said Bailey's "suppositions and conclusions" were not sufficient to reopen a police investigation of the murder case.

False Choice Not Desired By Kiesinger

BONN, Germany (AP)—Kurt Georg Kiesinger, generally expected to become West Germany's chancellor, today predicted good relations with both the United States and France.

Kiesinger, Christian Democrat minister president (governor) of Baden Wuerttemberg State, is known for his friendliness to President Charles de Gaulle's government just across the Rhine. Asked if closer West German ties with France would impair those with the United States, he replied:

"I don't think so. I always refused to be imprisoned in the cage of a wrong alternative. I am quite convinced we will deepen our relations with France and the United States. I know there are difficulties but these difficulties can be solved if good will is prepared to solve them."

Michigan Hit By High Winds

DETROIT (AP) — High winds continued to pound Michigan today, piling up snow into seven-foot drifts, disrupting electric service, forcing schools and some government offices to close, and bringing an SOS from a stranded ship.

State police reported that all main roads have been opened in the Upper Peninsula, freeing some 1,000 persons marooned by the storm Monday.

Across the state, gales swept Lake Huron. The grounded German freighter Nordmeer sent out a distress signal for help for the seven seamen aboard, and a Coast Guard cutter was dispatched to the scene.

Weather forecasters said that although snow had diminished in the Upper Peninsula, wind squalls would continue to make life miserable over much of the state, especially in the northeast.

The severe storm snarled traffic in the Detroit area, where drifts of up to two feet were reported in some sections. About 10 suburban schools were closed.

Seven inches of snow covered the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee, with 4 inches reported at Newfound Gap on the Tennessee-North Carolina line. The mercury dropped to the 20s.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s and lower from the Gulf region to central Florida. Southerly winds brought mild conditions to New England, with readings higher in some areas in the far northeast states than in northern Florida.

Winter Suddenly Becomes for Real

A 2 1/2-inch snowfall during the night, with an expected accumulation of three or four inches today, put Pickaway Countians in a mood for "dreaming of a white Christmas."

Highways remained covered throughout the morning hours as service crews attempted to keep up with the snowfall. City, county and state departments raced to an early start on their snow removal chores, making every effort to keep major thoroughways open to traffic.

The sudden snow appearance caused no apparent hardships, except for motorists braving the elements. All city and county schools were in session although a couple of buses reported in late due to a reduction in speed prompted by snow-covered highways.

Today's snowfall was the second of the season. The first occurred Nov. 1 when more than an inch was recorded during a pre-seasonal blast of cold air from Canada. This accumulation, however, melted by mid-morning.

New Project To Provide 150 Jobs

On the brighter side of the weather picture, many youngsters greeted the snow with a cheery smile. To them it means an opportunity to use last year's Christmas sleds, building snowmen and having old-fashioned snowball fights.

Even the weatherman chuckled this morning in giving his daily report. He noted that autumn is not officially over until Dec. 21. And he has his own guess as to what winter will really be like.

The State Highway Patrol reported eight accidents in Pickaway County directly attributed to the slippery roads.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated six accidents caused by snow. Police said three accidents in the city were the result of winter conditions.

None of the accidents was serious, according to local law enforcement officials. Only minor property damage was involved in most of the mishaps, they said.

Once Around Roundtown

A NORFOLK AND WESTERN train encountered mechanical difficulty Monday at about 4 p. m., blocking the West Main and the West High St. crossings for 90 minutes.

Traffic on Main St. was backed up to the First Methodist Church, according to city police. And "almost to Williamsport" in the other direction, according to one irate motorist who came in from the west.

U.S. Traffic Deaths Reach High of 748

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's 748 traffic deaths during the extended Thanksgiving weekend reached an all-time record for any holiday.

The total for the four-day, 102-hour period, from 6 p.m., local time, Wednesday to midnight Sunday, surpassed the previous record high for a holiday of 720 set in the three-day, 78-hour Christmas weekend of 1965.

An Associated Press comparative survey of traffic fatalities during a nonholiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9 through Sunday, Nov. 15, showed 546 deaths.

This year's Thanksgiving weekend toll compared to 615 last year, the highest for the period since AP tabulations were started eight years ago.

Mud, Rain, Flood, Snow Choke Italy

ROME (AP)—After one day of sunshine, rain returned today to flood-stricken Italy.

Milan had its first snow of the year, for four hours. Snow was general in the Dolomites and the northern third of the Apennine chain. In the plains and south from mud-mired Florence to Sicily it rained.

The Italian Riviera and the Tyrrhenian coast were battered by a heavy storm.

Rainwater caused Florence's saturated sewers to overflow, pouring more mud onto the streets. Heavy rains also fell over the delta of the Po River, still flooded by the salt waters of the Adriatic.

U.S. Backing On Rhodesia

Wilson met with his Cabinet but held off making a final decision on whether to break with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Sir Saville Garner, the top-ranking career diplomat in the Commonwealth office, took off for Washington to seek U.S. backing in any move to bring down the Smith government through compulsory sanctions.

A deadline was approaching for Britain to carry out its commitment to the Commonwealth to end the rebellion or take it to the United Nations Security Council before the end of the year.

Wilson promised Commonwealth leaders last month to apply for U.N. sanctions unless Smith came through by Nov. 30 with an acceptable program for eventual transfer of power from Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to the colony's 4 million Africans.

Wilson and key members of his Cabinet agreed Monday that minor concessions offered by Smith Saturday did not meet Britain's terms.

Raise Ends School Strike At Hubbard

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Hubbard students return to school today after their teachers were granted a $530-a-year pay hike, ending a strike that started last Monday.

The opening of four schools in Hubbard followed by one day the return to school of 28,000 students in Youngstown, where striking teachers reached an agreement Saturday for a collective bargaining to be held in 1968.

There are 3,700 students in nearby Hubbard's four schools.

The 145 Hubbard teachers will get $470 in salary and the rest in retirement benefits, the total amounting to about $530. The teachers had asked for an annual $600 increase.

Present wage scales in Hubbard range from $4,700-a-year for starting teachers to $8,084 for teachers with 13 years' experience and master's degrees.

Jury To Determine Speck's Competence

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury of seven men and five women was selected Monday to determine whether Richard F. Speck is competent to stand trial on charges of murdering eight student nurses.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen of the Circuit Court recessed the hearing until today when a panel of psychiatrists who have examined Speck was to begin testimony.

Water, Safety, Schools Will Face Legislators

Water, highway safety and elementary and secondary school problems will be just a few of the topics of the State Legislature next year, Harry L. Armstrong, newly elected State Senator from the 17th District, told Republicans Monday.
In spite of the bad weather, about 150 persons turned out for the GOP Victory Dinner at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.
Water is becoming more valuable, Armstrong said, and a plan is being considered for putting all divisions concerned with water sewage and pollution under one Division of Water. Thus, it will not take local municipalities the one to two years it presently takes to obtain necessary monies through the present channels.
The legislature will also be concerned with parks and recreations, more plans for jobs, vocational and technical schools plus the tax commission study. Personal property tax is very unfair, Armstrong pointed out, but if an income tax is enacted the state would be depriving local governments of a source of revenue.
Armstrong said that he was all for retaining money at the local level as the citizens get more for his money. As an example, he quoted how the U. S. Government pays $20 billion annually in interest on the national debt, whereas Ohio's budget for operating expenses, the general fund, welfare, and education for two years is only $1-1½ billion.

Another consideration will be a pay increase for state employees, he commented, for as long as inflation continues, the state will have to meet the demands of the people so that they can exist.
Commenting on the 1968 elections, Armstrong said that he hopes that every Republican can forget about the little things and support the Party's candidates and platform. The Party has an opportunity to gain back its stature by electing Republican Congress and President, he said. The public in the recent election showed that it was tired of a rubber stamp Congress, Viet Nam and inflation.
Other speakers included Everett R. Beers, Wayne Hines, who was recently re-elected Pickaway County Commissioner and Eugene H. Dowler speaking for William H. Harsha, Congressman from the 6th District. Darrell Hatfield, Chairman of the Pickaway County Republican Executive Committee was Master of Ceremonies.
Miss Linda Carney, Miss Ann Spicer, and Carl Cupp of the Circleville High School Drama Club provided entertainment.
The Rev. Henry Walters of the Presbyterian Church gave the Benediction and the Rev. Oliver H. Miller, of the Second Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Three Motorists Penalized On Intoxicated Driving

Edwin R. Stone, 36, Columbus, was fined $150 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court Monday when he pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicants.
In addition to the fine, Stone was sentenced to three days in the County Jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.
William C. Randolph, 53, of Washington C. H., was fined $125 and costs Friday by acting Judge Al Berger on a similar charge. He entered a plea of no contest.
Randolph was sentenced to three days in the county jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months.

U.N. Votes 57-46 Against China Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—By a more decisive vote than last year, the General Assembly refused today to seat Red China in the United Nations. It was the 16th time the Peking government had been barred.
The 121-nation Assembly voted 57-46 to reject a resolution calling for the expulsion of Nationalist China and the seating of the Peking government in all U.N. bodies. Seventeen countries abstained. Laos did not participate.
The vote on an identical resolution last year was 47-47 with 20 abstentions. The total membership then was 117. Two members did not vote and one was absent.
Today's rebuff to the Chinese Communist came after the Assembly had approved a U.S.-supported resolution reaffirming that the Chinese question was an important one requiring a two-thirds majority. The vote on that was 66 to 48 with seven abstentions.
As in the past, Britain and France split with the United States and voted for the pro-Peking resolution sponsored by a group of Communist and non-aligned countries.
Albania, Cambodia and other countries sympathetic to Peking led the fight to seat the Chinese Communists. The Soviet Union and India — former champions of Peking — voted yes, but gave only lukewarm support to the bid.

Smith Named To Serve New Library Term

Carl Smith, Route 1, Kingston, has been re-appointed a member of the Pickaway County Library Board.
The new appointment was made Monday by Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners. The term, effective Dec. 14, is for seven years.
In other business the commissioners hired Connie Bircher of Route 1, Ashville, to operate a recently acquired microfilm machine. The gear is for use of various departments and offices at the Courthouse.
Pursuing a recommendation to promote a Christmas decoration program for the outside of the Courthouse this year, the so-called appointed Clerk of Court Sara Dresbach to serve as chairman of the project.

THE DECORATING program is to be conducted by various department heads and employees. A committee planning session was scheduled for later today.
Additional commission activity centered on routine payment of bills and transfer of money.

Major Trouble Brews in Middle East, More Dangerous to Peace than Suez

Editor's note — AP correspondent Roy Essoyan interviewed King Hussein of Jordan today on the current crisis in the Middle East following an Israeli raid on Jordanian border villages and violent demonstrations in Jordan. Here is his report of the exclusive interview.
By ROY ESSOYAN
AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan told The Associated Press today the Middle East is on the brink of an explosion more dangerous to world peace than the Suez crisis of 1956.
His warning was directed at Israel, the Arab world and the West.
He said his armed forces would strike back at Israel — "and strike extremely hard" — if Israel attacks again across the armistice line.
"Our patience is at an end and we won't stand for any further aggression," he said in an interview at the royal palace in Amman.
Hussein said "there was no justification whatsoever" to Israel's claim that it was retaliating against terrorist raids across the border when it raided Samua and two other Jordanian frontier villages Nov. 13. The raid set off violent demonstrations in west Jordan demanding arms against Israel and denouncing the government for the weakness of its border defenses.
The disturbances were brought under control, possibly temporarily, only when troops of Hussein's tough Arab Legion moved into the area. The army so far has remained loyal to its 31-year-old Sandhurst-trained monarch, as it has through other crises of his 14-year reign.
Hussein charged some of his Arab neighbors were serving Communist ends by calling for his overthrow.
Hussein has enjoyed peaks of popularity among his people, especially when he has espoused Arab nationalist causes, but his pro-Western policies are opposed by his neighbors in Syria and the United Arab Republic and do not arouse the enthusiastic support of the Arab masses.
"I hope our friends in the free world will realize what is at stake here today," the king said. "The tensions built up by the events of the last two weeks have created the most explosive situation since the Suez crisis of 1956, and the results could be even more devastating to the free world."
He said Jordan was threatened on three fronts — by Israel, by the threats and propaganda attacks of some of its Arab neighbors, and by Communist and pro-Communist subversion within its borders.
Hussein said he had grounds to fear that the Samua attack "was not an isolated incident but was the beginning of something that could lead to a general war."
"We are determined," Hussein said, "to fight with every ounce of strength we have if the battle is forced on us. It is obviously our fight. But the outside pressures being exerted in this area are of vital interest to the free world."
"My country has become a symbol of freedom and stability and this obviously disturbs many people. We are doing everything possible to build up our defenses to deter attack or to meet it if necessary."
"We need more arms, we need the moral support of the free world and we need all the help our friends in the Arab world can give us."

He said his security forces were taking every measure to stamp out subversion in Jordan and to prevent the possibility of a campaign of terror getting started here.
Asked whether he had any fear of assassination — his grandfather King Abdullah was murdered before young Hussein's eyes in 1951 — the king said: "I never think of it. I only think of doing the best I can for my people and of upholding the ideals in which I believe and which are shared by free people everywhere."

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An Israeli army spokesman said two Egyptian planes of the MIG19 type were shot down after a short dogfight over Israel territory shortly after noon today.
The spokesman said the battle developed after an Israeli plane on routine air patrol over southern Israel's Negev Desert was intercepted by two Egyptian MIGs.

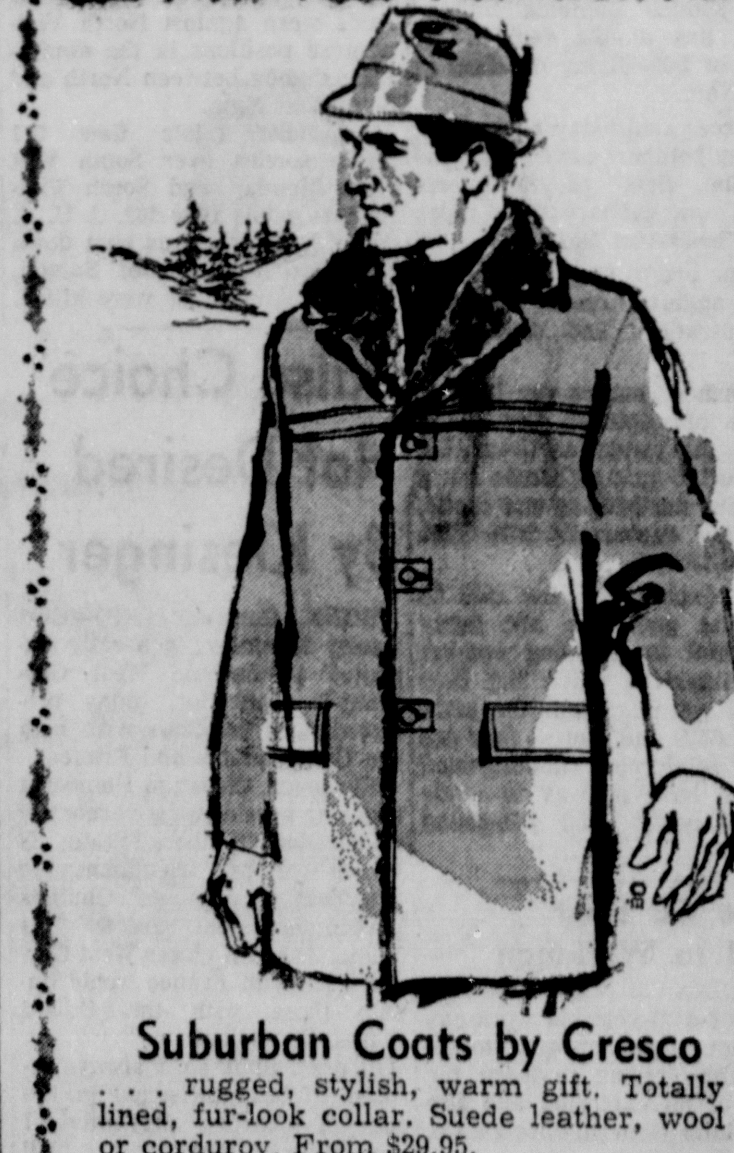

Two Israeli Mirages immediately flew to the scene and met the two Egyptian planes over Israel territory at Beerotayim.
In a short battle both MIGs were hit and fell inside Egyptian territory close to the Israel-Egyptian frontier, while both Israeli planes returned safely, the spokesman said.
The army spokesman also reported a ground incident. He said shots were fired across the border at a group of Israeli laborers from a Jordanian police station this morning in the eastern Judean Mountains — the area where an Israeli army command car was blown up Nov. 12.
The spokesman said a number of single shots were fired from the Rujum police station inside Jordan toward a group of forestry workers on the Israeli side.
An Israeli military unit protecting the workers returned the fire, said the spokesman. No Israeli casualties were reported.
The Weddell seal can remain submerged for half an hour or longer.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

This Dad's Not Much of a Man

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 2 years and he still hasn't told his parents that I have a 4-year-old son, Ricky, by a previous marriage. John told them I was a divorcee (he was also divorced), but because his parents lived out of state my son was never mentioned.

John's parents are coming to visit us over the holidays so John wants me to send Ricky somewhere — just "hide" him because he's not ready to tell his parents about him yet. Abby, when we were first married, John asked me not to let on that I had a child, so I had to listen to other mothers talk about their children, and show pictures, while I kept quiet.

Well, I think I've kept quiet long enough, I love John, but I can't take much more of this. What should I do?

SECRET MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Tell John that when his parents come, either Ricky will be very much in evidence and introduced as your son, or he will be well-hidden — out of sight, permanently. And wherever Ricky is, YOU will be right beside him. I let John decide.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old. I was at a party the other night and I met a boy. We liked each other right away and before I knew it we were in the bedroom making out. (Nothing serious happened.) There were about 15 other kids there, including some football players from our high school.

This boy is a key club member and is neat up at school. Abby, whenever I see him in the halls he doesn't even speak to me. You would think he never saw me before. This has me confused. What's wrong with him? Or is it me?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: You were foolish to "make out" with a boy you just met at a party. He is either (a) ashamed of himself, (b) doesn't want anyone to know he knows you, (c) doesn't recognize you in the light.

DEAR ABBY: My baby chose to arrive on the night that a friend of mine was giving a baby shower in my honor. Because of this I wasn't at the shower and I don't even know who attended it. My problem is that the hostess never turned over any of the gifts to me. My little girl is a year old now so it isn't likely that many of the gifts would be useful at this time. I am so embarrassed when I see friends who may have attended the shower and brought a gift. They must think I'm terrible for not having thanked them.

I've given the hostess several broad hints about giving me the gifts, but she never has. How can I clear up this complicated mess without embarrassing anybody?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Unless you've been in poor health for the last year I see no reason why this "mess" (which is not at all "complicated") has not been cleared up.

Simply ask the hostess for the shower gifts and acknowledge each one. If she refuses, ask a friend who was there to write to each one, with your thanks, explanations and apologies for your tardiness.

What's in a Name? Much If Your Town is 'Pig Sty'

ROME (AP) — The predicament facing the town council of Camposanto may touch off a wave of name changing by other communities tired of being chuckled at.

Camposanto is the Italian word for cemetery. Townsfolk complain they have put up with that long enough.

What Camposanto's council does about it will be watched with sympathetic interest by some other towns that have borne the brunt of wearying humor.

These include Canile dog kennel, near Teramo in central Italy; Divieto — forbidden, near Messina in Sicily; Panza — stomach, near Naples, and a couple of places called Cipollina — little onion, and Budino — pudding.

Near Arezzo in Tuscany is the village of Porcellino — little pig, and near Cosenza a community called Procile — pig sty. Another town called Procile, near Verona, changed its name years ago to Belfiore — lovely flower.

But the Camposanto council, after weeks of studying the problem, still has not been able to agree on a new name.

Campovivo is the favorite so far. That means live field.

Judge Rules 1961 Ohio Bill Unconstitutional

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall ruled Monday that State Civil Service bill passed by the 1961 legislature is unconstitutional.

His ruling involved a suit by Joseph Heheman, a Hamilton County jail guard. Heheman contended he should be granted permanent Civil Service status because the 1961 law specified it for provisional employees with four years or more of service. He said he had been employed by the state since 1957 and should be afforded Civil Service status without taking a competitive examination.

But in his decision, Judge Marshall said Ohio law provides that such status should be determined according to merit and fitness "by competitive examination."

New Forms Should Aid Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The taxpayer who waits until the last minute to file his yearly income tax return will get a two-day bonus next spring — the filing deadline has been extended to April 17.

And the Internal Revenue Service said it should be easier for the more than 65 million individual taxpayers to complete their returns next year because the few changes made in the tax form should simplify matters, not complicate them.

Changes made by Congress this year in tax laws will have no effect on the new tax forms.

For example, the new law which permits taxpayers to divert $1 of their tax — $2 for married couples filing joint returns — to a presidential campaign fund doesn't go into effect for another year.

The form to be filed out in early 1968 for 1967 taxes will include a small box to be checked by the taxpayer if he wants to do this.

Even if Congress should raise taxes early next year, the new forms would be unaffected. The forms filled out in early 1967 are for this year's taxes.

The two-day filing bonus results because the normal April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday. In such cases, IRS usually gives taxpayers until the next business day to submit returns.

The biggest change in the upcoming filing period will be in the handling of the returns by the government.

For the first time since it began data processing operations in 1962, IRS will send every tax return through a complete computer check. Only about half the individual returns got the full treatment his year.

This means a check not only of arithmetic, but also comparisons of each return with data on dividends and interest sent to the government by a taxpayer's bank, savings and loan association or corporation.

The computers also are programmed to shunt aside any return on which a deduction seems out of line. These then are checked by IRS personnel. IRS said today taxpayers should begin receiving their forms and instruction sheets just after the first of the year.

Enrollment Drops

BOSTON (AP) — Officials say enrollment in city schools dropped 1,433 to 92,602 this year due to movement of families to suburbs. City parochial schools reported a drop of 1,392 pupils.

A new table has been added to the new instruction sheet to help taxpayers figure their deduction for state gasoline taxes. It is based on the approximate mileage covered in a year and the amount of a state's gasoline tax.

The Laser Is Dangerous

The laser beam is invading industry. Thousands of lasers are now employed in manufacturing plants and research laboratories. As a tool, the laser appears to be one of the brightest (no pun intended) discoveries to find its way into a machine shop.

Versatile and extremely powerful, the laser can drill tiny holes in diamond dies; weld, cut and machine metal to fine tolerances, and make itself useful in the photographic and communications fields.

But some of those most familiar with its work are worried about the proliferation of the laser throughout industrial plants and other places where inexperienced hands might be in control. The laser is dangerous.

Several laser experts, including two physicians, at Western Electric's Buffalo, N. Y., plant urge the adoption of a national safety code. They foresee the possibility of similar health hazards being introduced by the laser that existed in the days when the full dangers of excessive use of X-ray and radium dials were not understood.

There are several types of laser radiation, each with its own kind of danger. The common ground, of course, is that they all emit intense rays of light. Some of this light is visible, some is in the form of infrared, or invisible rays.

Serious skin burns may result from contact with the laser beam, and even momentary exposure to the eyes may cause blindness. Eyes may also be damaged by reflected light from laser beams, and while there are certain glasses which will protect the eyes, none of them is capable of stopping all laser wave lengths.

As a tool, the laser has much to offer industry. As a weapon it is also a potent force. The trick is to harness its destructive forces. A national study to thoroughly reveal the character of this widely misunderstood innovation would be desirable.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Retailers are facing one of their biggest challenges ever during this Christmas shopping season. Even the experts are confused. The big unknown factor is the consumer mind. Everyone knows he's thinking of money. But is he thinking of spending it or saving it?

There have been many years in the past, poorer years by far than 1966, when department stores and other retailers could forecast with complete confidence that sales would be higher than the previous year.

There is a very good chance that such a forecast will come true this year. The consumer has the money. There are more consumers than ever before.

But forecasting is less certain because consumer buying habits in the past few months have become very difficult to predict. Some of the signals are even contradictory.

Through much of this year Americans received a hard-knock course in household economics as they strove to beat inflation. By early fall, beat from his expensive vacation, the consumer threw up his hands in frustration. Inflation put him in a sour mood and he still may be in it.

The factors affecting consumer habits during the past few months are a jumble of events, some of them seemingly irrelevant to the situation.

Among them: flat, high interest rates, the fear of recession, the Viet Nam war, criticism of products from various sources and a resultant lessening of confidence in goods, an erratic stock market, the balance of payments deficit.

The lessening of confidence apparently was a cumulative thing. Through much of the summer, retail sales continued to rise month to month. But in September the rise was broken. Sales dropped, although slightly.

Throughout the year the University of Michigan measured consumer attitudes, not by the cash register as much as by interviews. This survey, in itself, tells story.

In the last half of 1965 consumers were more confident than at any time in 20 years, the university said.

By April, the consumer was described as "guardedly optimistic," but nevertheless satisfied. He even believed the Viet Nam war made for good time at home without causing shortages of goods.

By June, the American consumer was less optimistic both about the future of business and about his own spending intentions. "Consumer optimism has weakened significantly during the past six months," the university said.

By Fall, his willingness to spend appeared to have deteriorated further. It was being noted in lower, but still high, car sales for one thing; and in shopper resistance at supermarkets. Curiously, Viet Nam no longer was considered a "good" business factor.

Nevertheless, the study determined that many people — despite the gloomy attitude — continued to make plans to spend large amounts of money on automobiles or home appliances. Why?

It's a good question, one so many that the poker-faced consumer isn't answering for the retailer. Only the cash register will give the answer.

Date Girls Who Can Type

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Every little girl yearns at some time to become a ballet dancer, or a nurse, or a schoolteacher. But the fact is that more and more wise little girls are growing up to become business secretaries.

For woman's place today is as much the office as it is the kitchen. One of the results of the continuing industrial revolution has been to put womanhood in a new seat of power — behind a typewriter.

Less than 100 years ago, women were almost as scarce in American business offices as gem, pearls are in restaurant oysters.

"According to the 1870 census, there were just seven female office workers," says Earl Tiffany Jr., president of the Royal Typewriter Co. "Today there are approximately three million secretaries, stenographers and typists — and 98 per cent of them are women."

Another source, Miss M. Merle Law, president of the NATIONAL Secretaries Association, agrees with Tiffany's figure of three million, but estimates the total number of U.S. women office workers in all jobs at seven million.

How did women come to this giant step? Some historians trace it back to the year 1881 when the YWCA started the first typing courses for women.

Year by year, women methodically replaced men in office work just as in the fields the tractor replaced the horse.

Here are some statistics which may explain why so many little girls today are going to secretarial work rather than becoming ballerinas, nurses or schoolteachers:

Says Tiffany: "Between 1955 and 1964, those earning $100 or more weekly increased from 5 per cent to more than 28 per cent. Top secretaries command salaries of $10,000."

Says Miss Law: "Salaries vary in different parts of the country, but secretaries to middle-management men average $37 per week, and secretaries to top level management average $112 per week. But they range up to $17,400 a year and in one case, considering extra cash benefits, to $21,400."

Says Tiffany: "This is one field in which age presents a minimum drawback to the older woman. More than half of the 'Miss Typewriters' of this country are married, and almost half are more than 40 years old."

Says Miss Law, with considerable pride: "A survey of our members showed that 32.8 per cent owned their own homes, a car and some stock shares."

The U.S. Department of Labor estimated that 200,000 more secretaries a year will be needed for the next decade—a prospect of two million new jobs.

This seems to take care of the futures of a lot of little girls.

But what about little boys? A smart little boy right now might start going steady with some smart little girl who shows unusual aptitude for the typewriter. Later in life she could be a great big help to him in achieving a style of living to which he would like to become accustomed — that is, if he doesn't wed the boss's son.

A FAMOUS SURGEON told a new group of students, "A good doctor must have from the first two gifts: freedom from nausea and the power of observation. Now do I do."

He dipped his finger into a nauseating fluid, then licked it off. The students did the same without flinching. The surgeon chuckled and told them, "You get A for the first test, but F for Part Two. Not one of you observed that I dipped my first finger in that disgusting fluid — but licked the second."

A mental patient complained so bitterly about severe stomach pains that the doctor finally decided to operate—and inside the poor fellow he found a bouquet of American Beauty roses. "Now how in heck did those flowers get in there?" he exclaimed. "Darned if I know," said the patient. "Let's look at the card and see who they're from."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

We have a large family of young children. One of them always seems to be getting, is in the middle or recovering from a cold. I know they pass it on to each other. I've wondered, however, if infections are carried in our household laundry which is done at home.

Mrs. Y.L.A., Oregon

Dear Mrs. A.: The problem of colds that travel through the household is a very common one. Infants, children and adults generally pass their germs to each other in their daily contacts. Hugging and kissing children, cooing at infants, uncovering sneezes, common towels are only a fraction of the many ways that germs pass from one to another. Later, children seem to develop some immunity to their own family's germs.

When children begin to go to kindergarten or to first grade a new cycle of infections begin. They are exposed to the "new" germs of other children and frequently become infected and bring their germs home to infect their family. This is a very difficult period that seems endless and discouraging.

If the children's resistance is kept up with a nourishing diet, supplemented with vitamins, adequate rest and sleep, the frequency and severity of these "family colds" will soon be diminished.

The problem of adequate sterilization of clothes and family laundry is a rather complex one.

In a book published by the American Medical Association, Dr. Thomas E. Shaffer of Columbus, Ohio, wrote about the efficiency of modern detergents. He found that when only a detergent is used in a complete laundering process, 99 per cent of all the germs could be removed from fabric unless there was an unusual amount of soiling.

Dr. Shaffer found, too, that detergents are almost 100 per cent effective against common germs if more than ten minutes is used for the wash cycle. He feels that this is one of the most important parts of the cleaning cycle.

Another important factor to insure disinfection is that the water be about the temperature of 160 degrees F.

If there is an adequate wash cycle in water at higher temperatures, detergents are usually sufficient to disinfect.

Dr. Shaffer adds that germicides added to detergents or to the water do not have any greater disinfecting power.

There may perhaps be a need for some mild germicide if blankets and woollens are to be adequately disinfected because these cannot be exposed to high temperature water.

The laundry, generally, is not the major key to household cross-infections.

Children with known allergies, and diseases of the tonsils and the adenoids seem to contract colds readily and these underlying factors must be controlled.

Simple precautions like isolating a sick child, avoiding playmates who have colds, covering sneezes and the routine sensible protections against bad weather can reduce the regularity of the family illnesses.

Don't pick or irritate moles. If they have grown larger, consult your doctor.

By John Chamberlain

Right after the Republicans racked up some good gains in Congress at the polls, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara put in a big political stop-loss order. He journeyed all the way to the LBJ ranch to announce that there was "considerable evidence" that Soviet Russia was building and deploying an anti-ballistic missile system, and that he had a way to negate it. His suggested antidote was not to counter with an anti-missile missile system of our own, but to arm our Polaris submarines, at a cost of $2.6 billion with a bigger atomic missile, the Poseidon, which would be able to penetrate the new Soviet defenses. Presumably he present Polaris missile isn't good enough.

To anyone with a long memory, the McNamara performance amounts to an admission that a great mistake has been made by Administration policy planners. For ever since 1961 the Pentagon has been proceeding on the assumption that if the U. S. refrained from developing an anti-missile missile system, the Russians would refrain too. Apparently we have made a terribly bad guess, and McNamara is left to pick up the pieces as best he can lest the whole business recoil upon the Democratic Party when certain nosy Republican Congressmen begin to ask questions.

The idea that the way to keep the Russians from building an anti-missile missile was to let our own anti-missile program languish has been attributed to Professor Jerome Wiesner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Whether this was the professor's own brainchild or whether it was fathered by a score of people in the unilateral disarmament lobby, is a good question. But Professor Wiesner served as President John F. Kennedy's special adviser on technology at the time that the decision was made not to go ahead with an anti-missile missile network. During this period Wiesner was arguing that "one of the potential destabilizing elements in the present nuclear standoff is the possibility that one of the rival powers might develop a successful anti-missile defense." Wiesner was all for keeping the so-called "Nike-Zeus anti-ballistic missile in a state of 'research and development,' not in deployment. It was anything to keep the Soviets from being scared into putting on full steam ahead to develop and deploy an anti-missile grid that might negate the threat of the U. S. Polaris submarine.

The policy of not provoking the Russian bear in the anti-missile missile business has flopped by Secretary McNamara's own admission. To save face, the Secretary is falling back on the old football axiom, that the best defense is a good offense. But the offense we now have is, according to the Secretary's own implied estimate, not sufficient to penetrate a "sophisticated" defense system. Accordingly, the Secretary is recommending that Congress appropriate the money needed to refit forty Polaris submarines with firing tubes capable of launching a new and better missile. The cost of the refitting would come to about sixty per cent of the cost of building the submarines in the first place.

To a grounding who knows little about missile and anti-missile technology, the theory that the best defense in missile matters is a good offense may sound plausible. But this theory does not consort with the political posture of the United States. For better or worse, this country has tried to reassure the world that it will never, never, never engage in a preventive, or "first strike," nuclear war. So, in refraining from building an anti-missile defense system, we obviously hand over the whole warming initiative to any nation that has both a powerful "first strike" capacity and a good defense backdrop. With an able anti-missile missile system added to the powerful atomic offense, the Soviets could blast the U. S. and then block our retaliatory measures with their defensive system. We would certainly lose in the exchange.

The Pentagon itself has estimated that an atomic attack on the U. S. in the 1970-75 period would result in 160 million fatalities if there were no Nike-X shield to blunt the assault. With a defense shield, the casualties could be cut to some eighty million at most. When Congress reconvenes, Secretary McNamara may well be on the hot seat when called upon to explain his post-election political stoploss order.

The Laser Is Dangerous

The laser beam is invading industry. Thousands of lasers are now employed in manufacturing plants and research laboratories. As a tool, the laser appears to be one of the brightest (no pun intended) discoveries to find its way into a machine shop.

Versatile and extremely powerful, the laser can drill tiny holes in diamond dies; weld, cut and machine metal to fine tolerances, and make itself useful in the photographic and communications fields.

But some of those most familiar with its work are worried about the proliferation of the laser throughout industrial plants and other places where inexperienced hands might be in control. The laser is dangerous.

Several laser experts, including two physicians, at Western Electric's Buffalo, N. Y., plant urge the adoption of a national safety code. They foresee the possibility of similar health hazards being introduced by the laser that existed in the days when the full dangers of excessive use of X-ray and radium dials were not understood.

There are several types of laser radiation, each with its own kind of danger. The common ground, of course, is that they all emit intense rays of light. Some of this light is visible, some is in the form of infrared, or invisible rays.

Serious skin burns may result from contact with the laser beam, and even momentary exposure to the eyes may cause blindness. Eyes may also be damaged by reflected light from laser beams, and while there are certain glasses which will protect the eyes, none of them is capable of stopping all laser wave lengths.

As a tool, the laser has much to offer industry. As a weapon it is also a potent force. The trick is to harness its destructive forces. A national study to thoroughly reveal the character of this widely misunderstood innovation would be desirable.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Retailers are facing one of their biggest challenges ever during this Christmas shopping season. Even the experts are confused.

The big unknown factor is the consumer mind. Everyone knows he's thinking of money. But is he thinking of spending it or saving it?

There have been many years in the past, poorer years by far than 1966, when department stores and other retailers could forecast with complete confidence that sales would be higher than the previous year.

There is a very good chance that such a forecast will come true this year. The consumer has the money. There are more consumers than ever before.

But forecasting is less certain because consumer buying habits in the past few months have become very difficult to predict. Some of the signals are even contradictory.

Through much of this year Americans received a hard-knocks course in household economics as they strove to beat inflation. By early fall, back from his expensive vacation, the consumer threw up his hands in frustration. Inflation put him in a sour mood and he still may be in it.

The factors affecting consumer habits during the past few months are a jumble of events, some of them seemingly irrelevant to the situation.

Among them: flatness, high interest rates, the fear of recession, the Viet Nam war, criticism of products from various sources and a resultant lessening of confidence in goods, an erratic stock market, the balance of payments deficit.

The lessening of confidence apparently was a cumulative thing. Through much of the summer, retail sales continued to rise month to month. But in September the rise was broken. Sales dropped, although slightly.

Throughout the year the University of Michigan measured consumer attitudes, not by the cash register as much as by interviews. This survey, in itself, tells story.

In the last half of 1965 consumers were more confident than at any time in 20 years, the university said.

By April, the consumer was described as "guardedly optimistic," but nevertheless satisfied. He even believed the Viet Nam war made for good time at home without causing shortages of goods.

By June, the American consumer was less optimistic both about the future of business and about his own spending intentions. "Consumer optimism has weakened significantly during the past six months," the university said.

By Fall, his willingness to spend appeared to have deteriorated further. It was being noted in lower, but still high, car sales for one thing; and in shopper resistance at supermarkets. Curiously, Viet Nam no longer was considered a "good" business factor.

Nevertheless, the study determined that many people — despite the gloomy attitude — continued to make plans to spend large amounts of money on automobiles or home appliances. Why?

It's a good question, one so many that the poker-faced consumer isn't answering for the retailer. Only the cash register will give the answer.

Date Girls Who Can Type

NEW YORK (AP) — Every little girl yearns at some time to become a ballet dancer, or a nurse, or a schoolteacher.

But the fact is that more and more wise little girls are growing up to become business secretaries.

For woman's place today is as much the office as it is the kitchen. One of the results of the continuing industrial revolution has been to put womanhood in a new seat of power — behind a typewriter.

Less than 100 years ago, women were almost as scarce in American business offices as gem, pearls are in restaurant oysters.

"According to the 1870 census, there were just seven female office workers," says Earl Tiffany Jr., president of the Royal Typewriter Co. "Today there are approximately three million secretaries, stenographers and typists — and 98 per cent of them are women."

Another source, Miss M. Merle Law, president of the NATIONAL Secretaries Association, agrees with Tiffany's figure of three million, but estimates the total number of U.S. women office workers in all jobs at seven million.

How did women come to this giant step? Some historians trace it back to the year 1881 when the YWCA started the first typing courses for women.

Year by year, women methodically replaced men in office work just as in the fields the tractor replaced the horse.

Here are some statistics which may explain why so many little girls today are going to secretarial work rather than becoming ballerinas, nurses or schoolteachers:

Says Tiffany: "Between 1955 and 1964, those earning $100 or more weekly increased from 5 per cent to more than 28 per cent. Top secretaries command salaries of $10,000."

Says Miss Law: "Salaries vary in different parts of the country, but secretaries to middle-management men average 397 per week, and secretaries to top level management average $112 per week. But they range up to $17,400 a year and in one case, considering extra cash benefits, to $21,400."

Says Tiffany: "This is one field in which age presents a minimum drawback to the older woman. More than half of the 'Miss Typewriters' of this country are married, and almost half are more than 40 years old."

Says Miss Law, with considerable pride: "A survey of our members showed that 32.8 per cent owned their own homes, a car and some stock shares."

The U.S. Department of Labor estimated that 290,000 more secretaries a year will be needed for the next decade — a prospect of two million new jobs.

This seems to take care of the futures of a lot of little girls.

But what about little boys? A smart little boy right now might start going steady with some smart little girl who shows unusual aptitude for the typewriter. Later in life she could be a great big help to him in achieving a style of living to which he would like to become accustomed — that is, if she doesn't wed the boss's son.

He Won Bet — In a Big Way

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A East Virginia Marine in Viet Nam recently bet his buddies he could get 400 letters from east Virginians through a letter writing campaign.

He won the bet and more than he bargained for, receiving some 7,000 letters.

The Marine is Lance Cpl. Bobbie L. Ruble of Parkersburg, who wrote Gov. Hulett C. Smith earlier explaining the wager. The governor's office then spread the word to the press, and the 7,000 letters resulted.

"When the letters started coming in," Ruble said in a letter to Smith, "they were in bundles, they were in bags. My buddies didn't know what to say."

Smith's office released Monday copies of the letter written to the governor by Ruble, dated Nov. 17.

"I'm going to read every letter that came to me and write their addresses down," Ruble pledged. "Then I'm going to start answering every one of those letters. It's going to take time, but if people are kind enough to write me, then I'd better get busy and write my friends back."

Reinstatement Of Dr. Sheppard On Board Agenda

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state medical board will discuss the reinstatement of former osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard at its Dec. 15 meeting but may not act on it at that time, officials said today.

The board office indicated that Sheppard has not filed for reinstatement since his retrial and acquittal on a second-degree murder trial.

One question that would have to be resolved, if Sheppard does apply, is whether he would be required to do some "refresher" work before re-entering practice.

It has been 12 years since the murder of his first wife, Marilyn, and his subsequent trial and conviction. Board officials said it will be necessary to evaluate the effect of his long absence from active practice.

You Cannot Beat British For Personalized Service!

LONDON (AP)—Users of a new British cook book will be able to telephone some of Britain's most famous women for help in following their favorite recipes.

The volume, Lady Maclean's Cook Book, contains the favorite recipes of some of Britain's leading hostesses and it includes the private telephone numbers of many contributors — a fact which rather staggered some of them.

A woman telephoned Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Mary — Mrs. Christopher Soames — Sunday to bemoan the fact that her baked bananas creole were, she thought, browner than they should be.

Mrs. Soames replied: "Are you sure you remembered the lemon juice? That's most important. And it is so simple." Mrs. Soames was stunned.

Dobermans Like To Play It Cool

LONDON (AP)—Britain's police have decided to stop using Doberman pinschers, the fierce-looking German guard dogs, for police work.

After using Dobermans experimentally with a number of British police forces, they said Monday the dogs are too smart.

One dog handler commented, "An Alsatian will go for an armed man if I tell him to but a Doberman is likely to spot the gun and the potential danger and just sit down."

when she realized that her call — might be the first of hundreds whose baked bananas creole hadn't come up to expectations.

But bravely facing the future, she promised: "I'd rather no one phoned — but if they do, I would try to help."

The dial-an-author innovation was something of an accident.

Lady Maclean explained: "I asked my friends to write the recipes on their own notepaper and some included their telephone numbers. I don't suppose the implications crossed their minds. I am not worried about it. I am sure they are not. And if any woman is caught in a flap, it's me she should write to."

Jewish Group Objects to New English Version of Oberammergau Passion Play

LONDON (AP)—Britain will get a chance to see an English-language version of the famed Oberammergau passion play next year despite a row over the fact that a Jewish impresario is presenting it.

Philip Solmoon, of Dunedin Theatrical Productions Ltd., who also is executive director of the pirate radio station, Radio Caroline, obtained rights for presenting a shortened version of the play in Britain, Ireland and the United States, along with Vic Lewis and Brian Epstein of New Enterprises. All three are Jews. The firm manages Britain's famed pop singing group, the Beatles.

Immediately upon learning of the deal, the Board of Deputies of British Jews strongly condemned any Jew for taking part in such a promotion. The board thus echoed the condemnation of Jews in Germany who had assailed the passion play on the ground it has an anti-Semitic tone.

Lewis and Epstein promptly withdrew. Epstein said, "I have given offense to Jewish communities here or anywhere else."

Solmoon said he would go ahead with plans to bring the play to England but intended to see there was nothing anti-Jewish in it. There is a clause in his contract with the Germans, he pointed out, "completely ruling out anything anti-Semitic."

The producer of the play over here will be Lothar Bock of Munich and the new text of the shortened version, lasting 2½ hours instead of eight, will be compiled in German by Jochen Blum, a German stage and television director. Music will be composed by Herman Thieme.

He Won Bet — In a Big Way

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A East Virginia Marine in Viet Nam recently bet his buddies he could get 400 letters from east Virginians through a letter writing campaign.

He won the bet and more than he bargained for, receiving some 7,000 letters.

The Marine is Lance Cpl. Bobbie L. Ruble of Parkersburg, who wrote Gov. Hulett C. Smith earlier explaining the wager. The governor's office then spread the word to the press, and the 7,000 letters resulted.

"When the letters started coming in," Ruble said in a letter to Smith, "they were't in bundles, they were in bags. My buddies didn't know what to say."

Smith's office released Monday copies of the letter written to the governor by Ruble, dated Nov. 17.

"I'm going to read every letter that came to me and write their addresses down," Ruble pledged. "Then I'm going to start answering every one of those letters. It's going to take time, but if people are kind enough to write me, then I'd better get busy and wrie my friends back."

Reinstatement Of Dr. Sheppard On Board Agenda

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state medical board will discuss the reinstatement of former osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard at its Dec. 15 meeting but may not act on it at that time, officials said today.

The board office indicated that Sheppard has not filed for reinstatement since his retrial and acquittal on a second - degree murder trial.

One question that would have to be resolved, if Sheppard does apply, is whether he would be required to do some "refresher" work before re-entering practice.

It has been 12 years since the murder of his first wife, Marilyn, and his subsequent trial and conviction. Board officials said it will be necessary to evaluate the effect of his long absence from active practice.

You Cannot Beat British For Personalized Service!

LONDON (AP) — Users of a new British cook book will be able to telephone some of Britain's most famous women for help in following their favorite recipes.

The volume, Lady Maclean's Cook Book, contains the favorite recipes of some of Britain's leading hostesses and it includes the private telephone numbers of many contributors — a fact which rather staggered some of them.

A woman telephoned Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Mary — Mrs. Christopher Soames — Sunday to bemoan the fact that her baked bananas creole were, she thought, browner than they should be.

Mrs. Soames replied: "Are you sure you remembered the lemon juice? That's most important. And it is so simple." Mrs. Soames was stunned

Dobermans Like To Play It Cool

LONDON (AP) —Britain's police have decided to stop using Doberman pinschers, the fierce-looking German guard dogs, for police work.

After using Dobermans experimentally with a number of British police forces, they said Monday the dogs are too smart.

One dog handler commented, "An Alsatian will go for an armed man if I tell him to but a Doberman is likely to spot the gun and the potential danger and just sit down."

when she realized that her caller might be the first of hundreds whose baked bananas creole hadn't come up to expectations.

But bravely facing the future, she promised: "I'd rather no one phoned — but if they do, I would try to help."

The dial-an-author innovation was something of an accident.

Lady Maclean explained: "I asked my friends to write the recipes on their own notepaper and some included their telephone numbers. I don't suppose the implications crossed their minds. I am not worried about it. I am sure they are not. And if any woman is caught in a flap, it's me she should write to."

Violations Added

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Under its system of revoking licenses of drivers through points given for unsafe practices, following too closely, and failing to yield the right of way are being added to violations given three points. Previously, three-point violations were confined to speeding and reckless driving.

Miss MacKenzie Becomes Bride of Dennis Pickens

MRS. DENNIS R. PICKENS

Miss Barbara Ann MacKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. MacKenzie, 506 Forest Drive, and Mr. Dennis Robert Pickens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Pickens, 127 Park St., were united in marriage at 7:30 p. m. Friday at Trinity Lutheran Church, 135 E. Mound S.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner performed the double ring ceremony. Candles and white gladioli featured the decorative theme.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist, and Miss Christine Zehner and Mr. George Weller, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory white crepe with an empire waist with an A-line skirt encircled with imported Venice lace. A nine-foot train trimmed with Venice lace flowed from the back. A veil of nylon illusion fell from a white dior bow.

She carried an orchid covered prayer book, used by her groom's great grandfather, Rev. D. L. Chafin. Her only jewelry was a set of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Eleanor Rush was the maid of honor. Miss Loch MacKenzie and Miss Paula MacKenzie were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns of velvet with a crepe bodice of olive green velvet and an A-line skirt of Moss green crepe. They also wore dior bow hats with matching veils. They carried pale yellow carnations in a cascade.

Miss Jean Rooney, flower girl wore a miniature gown like the bridesmaids and carried a nose gay bouquet.

Master Tim Cuolahan was the ring bearer. Mr. John Davis served as the best man. Ushers were Mr. Robert Hedges and Mr. Chris MacKenzie.

The bride's mother wore a two piece beige lace dress with beige accessories. She also wore a white orchid with a green ribbon.

The groom's mother was attired in a three piece lace suit with plum accessories. She wore an orchid with plum ribbons.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. A four tiered cake with a gold wedding cross on top of the cake was centered on a white net table cover of moss green net and white bells as trim. White mums with candles were also used.

For a wedding trip the new Mrs. Pickens wore a brown knit suit and an orchid from her prayer book.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pickens will reside at 121 Dunmore Road.

The new Mrs. Pickens is a graduate of Circleville High School, attended Capital University and is employed by the General Electric Lamp Plant.

Mr. Pickens is a graduate of Circleville High School, an alumnus of the University of Notre Dame, and attended Ohio University. He has an Associates of Fine Arts Degree in Radio T.V. and Theatre from Columbia College. He is associated with the Hocking Valley Broadcasting Corp., Lancaster.

Out-of-city guests were from Midland, Mich.; Holt, Mich.; Detroit, Mich.; Reynoldsburg, Lima, Bay Village, Ada, Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati. The bride's two grandmothers

Family Event Is Enjoyed at Pusey Home

The Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Pusey, Route 1, enjoyed the pleasure of having their children and grandchildren with them during the Thanksgiving holiday.

Rev. Pusey is a retired minister in the Church of the Nazarene. His many years of service included a tour as pastor of the local church.

Present for the Thanksgiving gathering were the Rev. and Mrs. Jay Keiser of Loudonville and their children Kay, Ronald and Donald; Dr. and Mrs. Robert V. Clendenen of Worthington and children Beverly and David; Captain and Mrs. Paul Pusey of Findlay and sons Larry, Steven and Timothy; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hobbie and daughters Maria and Carla.

Grandson David, attending Olivet Nazarene College at Kankakee, Ill., was accompanied by guest Douglas Taylor, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Taylor of the Nazarene Seminary at Kansas City, Mo.

Captain Pusey, a chaplain in the U. S. Army, will be stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va., starting Jan. 1. His wife Lucile, a first grade teacher in the Findlay School System and their sons will join him in February.

Mr. Hobbie is a foreman in works engineering at the local Du Pont plant.

Also enjoying the family gathering was Mrs. Fannie Eaton, mother of Mrs. Pusey, who makes her home with Rev. and Mrs. Pusey.

Actress' Son Has Spleen Removed

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield's 6-year-old son, Zoltan, is recovering from his second serious operation since being mauled by a lion, a hospital spokesman reports.

Doctors removed the boy's spleen Monday night after confirming that the lion's attack had ruptured the organ.

Zoltan was attacked by a chained lion Saturday at an animal compound here while his mother posed for publicity pictures. He was in surgery for five hours Saturday night with lacerations and a fractured skull.

You can combine thinly sliced pared apples and pears for a one-crust pie with a streusel-type topping. Combining the two fruits gives interesting flavor.

Actress' Son Has Spleen Removed

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield's 6-year-old son, Zoltan, is recovering from his second serious operation since being mauled by a lion, a hospital spokesman reports.

Doctors removed the boy's spleen Monday night after confirming that the lion's attack had ruptured the organ.

Zoltan was attacked by a chained lion Saturday at an animal compound here while his mother posed for publicity pictures. He was in surgery for five hours Saturday night with lacerations and a fractured skull.

You can combine thinly sliced pared apples and pears for a one-crust pie with a streusel-type topping. Combining the two fruits gives interesting flavor.

Third Bank Has Fashioned Steady Growth Trend Here

The Third National Bank of Circleville has fashioned a steady rate of growth since its origin 84 years ago.

The bank, now firmly established in its new quarters at Main and Pickaway Sts., has moved in a parallel line with this community's expansion and progress. By the same token, it has played an important role in the locality's financial history.

According to records compiled by M. E. Noggle, an authority on Pickaway County lore and an officer of the bank, the institution was conceived Sept. 2, 1882, in the Page and Abernathy law offices at Court and Main Sts.

The bank's national charter was granted by the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency on Nov. 13, 1882.

THE THIRD opened its doors for business to the public on Jan. 2, 1883. Operations were conducted on the northwest corner of W. Main and Scioto Sts., where a service station is now located.

Approximately 14 years later, the bank moved to 138 W. Main St. (known as the Parrett Building). This was done in May of 1897.

In November of 1919, the Third purchased a location at 107 W. Main St. from the Wit-uch heirs. Operations there, started in 1921, continued at this familiar site until the bank moved into its new headquarters earlier this month.

According to officials of the firm, these moves by Third National reflect two objectives: 1. a desire by the management to operate close to the heart of the economic community — it has never left the "main stem" (Main St.); 2. the present plan to extend its services to today's mobile society which requires expanded facilities, including accommodations for patrons who prefer to transact business from their automobiles.

When the Third National was granted its national charter 84 years ago, it listed its capital worth at $100,000. That was on Nov. 13, 1882.

Less than 10 years later — on May 4, 1891 — the bank reported to the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency that its Resources were valued at $342,804.32.

Resources today total in excess of $7.8 million.

Youths Arrested For Vandalism

The apprehension of three New Holland, assisted with the struction of 36 mailboxes in Fayette County and for destruction of monuments in New Holland Cemetery was reported Monday by Don Thompson, Fayette County sheriff.

Thompson said the damage occurred Nov. 23.

Wilbur Frazier, marshal of New Holland assisted with the investigation which led to the arrest of the juveniles.

Charges were filed against the trio, two of them 16 and one 15, in Fayette County Juvenile Court.

Open House Observance Slated Wednesday at New Third National

A formal opening observance Wednesday will mark the latest structural addition to Circleville's downtown shopping area.

Assuming a conspicuous place on the city's distinguished business list will be the new Circleville Third National Bank building at Main and Pickaway Sts. The official opening will offer citizens of the community an opportunity to view the institution's modern and spacious facilities.

Lighting Advance Is Rotary Theme

WILLIAM W. WOODWARD

"Man's Pathway from Darkness to Light" will be the program subject for this week's meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club.

The topic will illustrate how man has worked to improve his lighting from 1100 BC to the middle of last century. Earl Palm will be in charge of the program.

William W. Woodward, an independent life underwriter, will present the program. He collected lamps and lighting equipment over a 20-year period as a hobby and will use the collection in his talk.

The Thursday luncheon session will be held at the L-K Restaurant.

The structure actually opened for business on Nov. 21, marking the end of an era for Third National in its former location at 107 W. Main St.

The official address of the new brick structure is 166 E. Main St., marking the third new bank to be located within the block. The Second National Bank was opened at 136 E. Main St. in April of 1964. The First National opened its new quarters at Court and Main in 1963.

A PUBLIC invitation has been extended for Wednesday's open house. Bank officials said one and all are invited to view the institution's modern facilities that have been built to meet the ever increasing needs of a vigorous, growing community. Visiting hours will be observed from 7 to 9 p. m.

The attractive facility offers a roomy interior, two drive-in windows and a convenient parking lot. Services provided include checking accounts, Christmas Club, safety Deposit boxes, savings accounts, installment loans, car loans and Christmas gift checks with greeting cards.

The new bank has been erected at a site steeped with tradition and history. The location for years was homegrounds of Marfield House.

Marfield House was built here in 1842-43 by Joseph Olds, a prominent lawyer, legislator and banker. It was listed in the original plat of Circleville. A few years later the structure was acquired by the Marfield family that had moved to

The first nomination of officers of the Knights of Pythias, Philos Lodge 64, was held Monday.

Orren Stout was nominated chancellor commander. Other nominations were:

Dryle Spangler, vice chancellor; Charles Winter, prelate; Charles Winner, master of work; Orwell E. Barr, secretary; Raymond Reichelderfer, financial secretary; George W. Mast, treasurer; Milo Wise, master of arms; Richard Miller, inner guard; Harry Strawser and Paul Graffis Sr., outer guard; Cecil Andrews, trustee.

The second nomination and election will be held Dec. 5. In addition, the grand lodge election, at which only past chancellor commanders may vote, will be held. It will be a District No. 11 meeting.

Esquire rank was conferred on Tracy DeLong and Dr. Robert Moser of Chillicothe Monday.

A lunch committee for the Dec. 5 meeting consists of Paul Graffis Sr., Gene Welsh and Charles Winter.

Radiation from Sun's Rays Menaces Supersonic Travel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Shielding supersonic transport—SST—passengers from radiation flak in the fringes of the atmosphere will be quite difficult, a Federal Aviation Agency official said today.

Dr. Pete V. Siegel, federal air surgeon, said in a talk prepared for the annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association that studies are under way "to gain knowledge of the radiation environment so that predictions can be made of the possible damage or genetic effects on occupants" of the planes.

Supersonic transports, expected to cross continents and oceans at speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour in the 1970s, are to cruise at 70,000 feet — twice the height of current airliners. At this altitude, the atmosphere is thin and provides much less shielding against radiation from the sun and other sources in the galaxy.

One "somewhat baffling" factor, Dr. Siegel said, "revolves around the fact that we do not know much about the biological effects of heavy particles (of radiation) which, for the SST occupant, will constitute a sort of microscopic antiaircraft or 'flak' environment."

Dr. Siegel noted that SST travelers will be subject both to primary radiation and to secondary radiation sparked when primary particles hit the atmosphere, the aircraft and its occupants.

This background radiation, he said, "is one factor that makes any attempt to shield the occupant of an SST quite difficult."

The weight and amount of shielding feasible for SST use which can remove these secondaries cannot adequately control the very high energy."

Police Nab 3 For Prank Fatal to Man

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Highway Patrolmen who had been following up tips for nearly three weeks arrested Dayton youths age 22, 17 and 16 Monday in the Nov. 8 case of a truck driver killed by a slab of concrete.

Facing charges about which the patrol and the Montgomery County prosecutor were conferring were Joe Kuhns, 22, and two teen-age boys.

The patrol quoted them as saying they were just playing around when the 60-pound slab dropped from an overpass onto the cab of a truck on Interstate 70 north of the city.

The chunk went through the windshield and hit trucker Archie Noland, 53, of Navasota, Tex., in the chest. He managed to pull the vehicle to a safe stop, but died in a hospital the next morning.

Logan Elm — Teays Valley — Westfall

Honor Society At LE Names New Officers

By ELAINE JUDY

Logan Elm National Honor Society members met recently to elect the 1966-67 officers.

Those elected were Richard Massie, president; Paula Weaver, vice president; Debbie Ankrom, secretary; Brenda Fausnaugh, chaplain; Alan Gabriel, sergeant-at-arms; Scott Wilson and Tom Smith, historians; and Elaine Judy, news reporter.

Members voted to continue choosing students of the month. The selection is based on outstanding citizenship in the school and community. The honored students are chosen by a committee composed of two NHS members, a teacher, a representative of the music department, a GAA representative and a member of the Student Council. The students of the month will be announced in the first edition of the school newspaper each month.

Student Honored At Westfall HS

LEE COOK

Lee Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cook, Route 2, Williamsport, was selected as the Westfall High School student for the month of November.

The quiet and very likeable senior played guard for the 1966 Mustang football squad and Coach Gwiazdowski said he was a "wonderful boy to work with."

"Cookie" as he is known to his many friends at Westfall, maintains a 4 point average — he enjoys hunting, fishing, and tinkering around with radios. He plans to attend college after graduation and wants to become an electrical engineer.

The Echo, Westfall paper, will make a "student of the month" a regular feature in this year's issues. Members of the Echo Staff, the student body and members of the faculty congratulate "Cookie" and wish you the best of luck.

Teays Valley GAA

The Teays Valley GAA has been engaged in playing badminton. The first place team was composed of Janet Stickle and Sandra Tosca.

The softball tournaments are now being played and have not yet been completed.

The volleyball teams played at Pleasantview with the Teays Valley reserves winning two games and losing one and the varsity winning one game and losing two.

LE Bandsmen

Attend Concerts

Thirty four Logan Elm concert band members and Mr. Robert A. Petty, their director, recently traveled to Columbus to hear the Ohio State Concert Band perform.

The concert was held in Mereson Auditorium. The Ohio State Concert Band is under the direction of Dr. Donald McGinnis and Richard Suddendorf, assistant conductor.

Among the selections played were the "Concerto Grosso" by Joseph Wagner, "Etude for Symphonic Wind Band," "Army of the Potomac," and "Fiesta Del Pacifico."

On Nov. 13 at 8 p. m. dates another concert at the Mereson Auditorium with the University Symphony Orchestra.

Yearbook Plans Begin At Westfall

The lengthy process of preparing another Westfall Yearling annual has begun once again.

Interviews were held early in September and the new staff was announced.

The new staff is headed by two capable seniors as co-editors. They are Nancy Fenstermaker and Lynn Straley.

This is the third consecutive year these girls have been on the staff. Other staff members are senior editor, Dawn Morrison; Business Manager, Linda Kempton; underclass editors Jeanee Shannon and John Eitel; index editor, Margene Liff; art editor, Linda Allen; sports editor, Frank Akers; activity editors, Carotta Peterson and Becky Morris; photographers, Charles Long and Larry Selby; typists, Gail Huff and Vicki Vincent.

In charge of individual class sales are freshman, Donna Straley; sophomore, Doug Steck; junior, Diana Cook; and senior, Ronnie Justus.

The Yearling is once again under the supervision of Miss Patricia Strous.

WF Student Named to Judging Team

Recently Andy Hamman, a Westfall student, was selected to be one of the four members on the state general livestock judging team.

The selection was made from the 4-H members who scored in the top ten at the Ohio State Fair contest. Andy earned his position as a result of placing 37 classes of livestock and presenting 19 sets of oral and written reasons since the State Fair.

He was also selected because of his steady improvement during the training at Ohio State University and at Michigan State University.

The selection of Andy gives him the opportunity to represent Ohio in the 4-H general livestock judging contest at the 1966 International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, Ill., immediately after Thanksgiving.

AC Honor Society Elects New Officers

The Amanda-Clearcreek Honor Society met Nov. 22 for the year's first meeting.

Officers for this year are James Daugherty, president; Hank Bartholomew, vice-president; Fay Young, secretary; Teresa Drum, treasurer; Sandy Davis, news reporter - historian.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember those days — they seem a long way off — when President Johnson was running around the White House, turning off the lights to save money?

You don't hear much about that any more. But, things have been going up all over, living costs, wages, prices and even the cost of the war in Viet Nam.

Another four weeks and it will be bell-ringing time, Christmas-time. But down on Johnson's Texas ranch, from now until Christmas, it will be hand-wringing time, usual every year about now, as Johnson sweats to cut spending.

But spending is going up. President John F. Kennedy's last budget sent to Congress in January 1963 — for the 1964 fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1963 and ending June 30, 1964 — called for spending $98.802 billion.

When Johnson took over the presidency about this time in 1963, he had to tug and tussle with the figures to ready the budget he had to submit to Congress in January 1964, for fiscal 1965.

He really sweated over that one. He wanted to keep his budget lower than Kennedy's, which would be a kind of miracle. If he could. And, by jingo, he did. His budget, $97.9 billion, was just a little less than $1 billion below Kennedy's.

But everything was inching along, living costs and all that, just a little up and up, and we were getting a little deeper into the Vietnamese war, which was not inexpensive.

Then came November and December 1964 and Johnson sent through the tug-and-tussle about his budget for Congress in early 1965 for fiscal 1966.

He hustled and battled but it turned out his budget was $99.7 billion, which was just a little below $1 billion over Kennedy's last budget, and $1.8 billion over his own budget of the previous year.

But by this time the United States was getting up to its neck in the war.

Once again came that time of the fiscal Turkish bath on the Johnson ranch — November and December 1965 — with the war getting bigger and all the expenses of the "Great Society" program, which Congress had passed earlier in the year, to worry about.

So, while Johnson may have lost weight sweating about the spending, the spending itself got fatter and in January 1966, when Johnson submitted his budget for fiscal 1967, it turned out to be $112.8 billion.

Now once more Johnson is down at the ranch, getting his budget ready for fiscal 1968.

And it won't be surprising if the budget doesn't come out at something like $125 billion. There has been talk it might.

Meanwhile, the economy is in a kind of tantrum which even the experts are having a time trying to analyze.

There's inflation. American defense costs, including the war costs, are going up. But new housing starts are at their lowest point in 20 years. Automobile manufacturers have cut back production. So in some ways Americans are spending more money, and in some ways they're not.

Johnson has been given a lot of advice, much of it free, that one of the very best ways to stop inflation is to raise income taxes, which is one of the very best ways to make a lot of people unhappy.

Johnson, who is probably thinking of running for re-election in 1968, isn't enthusiastic about making people unhappy. But he has to worry about inflation and the economy first. So he is thinking it over.

We Didn't Know There Were Cars Still Running in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba is conducting a traffic safety campaign to cut down the number of motor vehicle accidents, which have killed some 2,200 persons in the last four years.

It is cracking down on reckless drivers and pedestrians and attempting to enforce widely disregarded traffic laws.

The latest effort in this capital city of 1.5 million and a large number of rambling wrecks that pass for automobiles is the use of young girls to direct traffic in busy areas.

Decked out in green and white uniforms, green boots and white berets, the girls stand in the middle of congested intersections and attempt to regulate the vehicular flow with arm signals.

Flood Damage

GAUHATI, India (AP) — Floods in India this year have caused an estimated $106 million damage to crops and personal property, according to Irrigation Minister Fakhruddin Ali Ahmad.

The cabinet officer told newsmen during a visit to Assam State that the damage here would total about $30.6 million, second only to Bihar state, which has suffered an estimated $46.6 million damage.

Ortiz Has Eyes On Welter Title

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Another lightweight title fight and then champion Carlos Ortiz, knock-out conqueror of Filipino Flash Elorde, may move up against welterweight king Curtis Cokes.

Ortiz and his manager Bill Daly, who had a second's license for the Monday night bout at Madison Square Garden, mentioned Sugar Ramos of Mexico City and Carlos Cruz, the contender from the Dominican Republic, as the possible lightweight opponents.

Ortiz flattened the game, wiry Elorde with a smashing left hook to the chin at 2:01 of the 14th round, ending a fight that was as one-sided as a duel between a machine-gunner and a guy with a water pistol.

Elorde, as flat as a day-old glass of ginger ale, never could get going against the smart, crisp-hitting Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

Judge Joe Armstrong gave all 13 rounds to Ortiz, the 3-1 favorite. Judge Artie Aidala scored it 12-1 and referee Jimmy Devlin had it 11-2. The Associated Press score card had it 12-1.

The 135-pound, 30-year-old Ortiz looked like a middleweight in against a bantamweight in the 31-year-old, 134½-pound world junior lightweight champion from Manila.

Ortiz, in his third title defense of the year, softened up his rival with stinging left jabs to the head and smashing lefts and rights to the body, and jarring rights to the head.

"He hit me in the right place at the right time," said Elorde, who added that he would not make any decision about retiring until he returned to Manila in a few days. He is a wealthy businessman.

"I was surprised that he was able to last until the 14th," said Ortiz. "I thought I had him earlier but he is a game fighter and hung in there. I fought just as I had planned, hitting him with short lefts and rights."

Fullmer Tops Olson in 10-Rounder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Middleweight boxing contender Don Fullmer pounded out a split decision victory over former champ Carl (Bobo) Olson Monday night in a 10-round fight at the new Oakland Coliseum Arena.

A crowd of 10,373 booed frequently as both fighters often were guilty of holding.

The 27-year-old Fullmer, rated No. 2 middleweight challenger by the World Boxing Association, weighed 168 compared with 175 for the 37-year-old grandfather Olson of San Francisco, rated fifth in the light-heavyweight division by the WBA.

Fullmer is the younger brother of retired middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

Cokes Make Successful Title Defense

DALLAS (AP) — Curtis Cokes, the thin brown panther of the ring, successfully defended his world welterweight crown against short-armed Jean Josselin Monday night, then looked toward a title bout with lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, who wants to move up.

Norm Levinson, promoter for the Dallas All-Sports Association, pointed to a $55,000 gate and 5,800 attendance for the Cokes-Josselin fight and said he wanted very much to stage a Cokes-Ortiz scrapp in Dallas.

Josselin never had a chance against the superior height and reach of Cokes, 29-year-old Dallas Negro with a goatee. Cokes piled up the points with a vicious jab, a wicked left hook and thunderous uppercuts.

Josselin, a Frenchman, was praised for his courage and durability but he really took a one-sided beating.

Judge Nat Fleischer of New York had Cokes by seven points and Judge Morris Fair of Dallas had Cokes ahead by 10. Referee Dick Cole of Dallas gave it to Cokes by 13 points and The Associated Press saw it by 11 points for Cokes.

The little man from Besancon, France, had a bloody face from the ninth round on. But there was nothing resembling a knockdown.

Maury Wills Up for Grabs

Dodger Shortstop In Club Doghouse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers said today they have placed shortstop Maury Wills in the trade mart partly — if not primarily because he left the club during a tour of Japan.

"I don't know yet whether Wills will be traded," said Buzzie Bavasi, the Dodgers' general manager, "but if anybody makes a reasonable offer then, of course, Wills would be one of the first we would trade."

Asked if Wills' failure to remain with the Dodgers during the recently completed exhibition tour of Japan had anything to do with the decision, Bavasi said:

"It's partly due to what Wills did."

What Wills did was leave the Dodgers early in the tour after being refused permission to do so by Walter O'Malley, the Dodgers' president. However, Wills said he needed medical attention for his right knee.

In discussing Wills and the Dodgers' decision, Bavasi said he had spoken with O'Malley Monday night and they had decided to make Wills available.

Bavasi revealed that he already had told three clubs that Wills was available — the New York Yankees, Minnesota Twins and Atlanta Braves.

Bavasi, however, indicated there haven't been any firm offers that would make a deal imminent.

During the 1962 season, Wills stole 104 bases. But last season, hampered by his leg injury, the 34-year-old shortstop stole only 38 bases and was caught stealing 24 times.

Browns' Loss Seen as Team Responsibility

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Houston told the Touchdown Club luncheon Monday that the loss to the Dallas Cowboys on Thanksgiving was "completely a team responsibility."

The Cleveland Browns line-backer said "there are many factors involved in the over-all performance of the team, and this defeat must be charged to combination of them."

The 26-14 defeat practically eliminated Cleveland from contention in the National Football League's Eastern Conference race.

Houston cited the Browns' inability to move the ball on offense, the defense to contain the Cowboys, and the kickoff specialty teams to stop Mel Renfro's long return.

"This loss could not be attributed to any individual," Houston said. "It was completely a team responsibility."

Questions from the floor included Lou Groza's missed field goal attempts.

"No one person can be blamed for the missed field goals," Houston replied.

"There are three people involved," he said. "The center, holder and kicker. The timing must be split second. If a kick is blocked, the whole team is involved."

The Browns, who have been resting since the Dallas game, resume workouts this week in preparation for a visit by the New York Giants Sunday.

Michigan State has beaten Northwestern eight straight times in football.

Los Angeles May Be Host To Super Bowl on Jan. 15

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Coliseum and Sunday, Jan. 15 are the likely site and date of the Super Bowl football game between the champions of the National and American Football leagues.

If the Pro Bowl game, between all-star teams of the NFL's two conferences, can be shifted from Jan. 15 to Jan. 22, the two pro leagues are expected to move their first big game into the vast 110,000-seat Coliseum.

No decision has been made. The Coliseum, Miami's Orange Bowl, New Orleans' Sugar Bowl and Houston's Astrodome are being considered, according to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

A joint committee from the two leagues, with Commissioner Rozelle as chairman, is making its recommendations to the two leagues at separate meetings. A definite announcement is expected before the two pro leagues and their meetings Wednesday or Thursday.

Of primary importance to the members of the NFL is a discussion of realignment. With New Orleans becoming the 16th team in 1967, the league will have 16 teams. They will be split into the same two Eastern and Western Conferences, with the West choosing between New Orleans and Atlanta as its eighth member. Baltimore would still remain in the West and St. Louis in the East.

Each conference will, in turn, be split into two four-club divisions. The make-up of these divisions is causing considerable discussion. Among the factors to be considered are weather, baseball park conflicts, traditional rivalries, geography, season ticket sale and business success and competitive aspects (strong or weak teams).

Although nine applications for the New Orleans franchise have been received, Rozelle said he doubted if the name of the new owner would be announced at these meetings. Before an owner is selected, a purchase price must be determined. No figure was announced when Atlanta was added earlier this year, but the figure of $8.5 million was published frequently.

Rozelle said there has been discussion of changing the date of the AFL game, now set for Monday, Dec. 25 in the home park of the Eastern winner.

"It probably would be better if both title games were played the same weekend," he said.

The NFL game is set for Sunday, Jan. 1 in the Eastern Conference winner's park.

BeeGees Look Like Mid-Am Cage Titlists

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green's basketball Falcons have been tabbed as the team most likely to win the Mid-American Conference championship.

They were picked in a poll conducted last week by the conference's news media association and announced Monday.

The Beegies received 12 of a possible 21 first place votes and completed 137 points.

Marshall was picked to finish second and received two first place votes and 105 points. Miami, which garnered 89 points for third place, was the champion choice of one ballot as was Western Michigan, picked to finish fourth on 84 points.

Rounding out the poll were Ohio University, 77 points, Toledo 68, and Kent State 27.

Four Games Set In Jr. High Loop

Four games are scheduled Wednesday in the Pickaway County Junior High basketball league.

Defending league champ Ashville, undefeated this year, hosts Monroe. Walnut, also undefeated, travels to Saltcreek.

Scioto, a third unbeaten quintet, plays at Washington. Jackson meets Pickaway on the Pirates' floor.

Westfall Boosters Name Committees

Norwin O'Connor, president of the Westfall Booster Club has appointed committees to serve concessions at Westfall basketball games. Dates and township chairmen are:

Dec. 3 — Darby Twp., Troy McPherson, chairman; Dec. 10 — Deer Creek Twp., Gerald Reynolds, chairman;

Dec. 16 — Perry Twp., Tom Conrad, chairman; Dec. 23 — Jackson Twp., George Mowery, chairman; Jan. 6 — Muhlenberg Twp., Mrs. Helen Eitel, chairman.

into the vast 110,000-seat Coliseum.

Orioles Purchase Soccer Franchise

BALTIMORE (AP) — There won't be any weird doubleheaders, but the Baltimore Orioles will be operating baseball and soccer franchises next season.

Jerald C. Hoffberger, president and board chairman of the Orioles, announced Monday that the American League baseball club had purchased a franchise which will operate as an Oriole subsidiary in the National Professional Soccer League.

More Cage Tilts Set at Mill St. Gym

The Circleville High School administration announced the Reynoldsburg game Dec. 10 will be played in the Mill St. gymnasium at the junior high school.

If attendance continues to be as good as it was for the first two, there is a possibility other games will be played there, officials said.

Seating capacity in the junior high facility is much greater than at the new high school.

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of city schools, said the new building could not have handled crowds at the first two tilts. However there was room to spare at the Mill St. gym.

The Miami Trace game Friday also will be at the Mill St. gymnasium.

3 Deer Checked At Laurelville

The Kerr Service Station in Laurelville, area checking station this season, reported three deer killed in Hocking County.

Carl A. Justice of Whistler killed a 10-point buck. Roger Ebert of Laurelville bagged a spike buck and Lawrence Stevens of South Bloomingville downed a 10-point buck.

Four Colleges Are Involved In Football Coach Changes

By RON RAPPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
With the college football season all but over, the coaching season has begun in earnest.

The following schools were involved in coaching shifts Monday:

Arizona—Jim LaRue was fired. No successor was immediately named.

Texas Christian—Fred Taylor was appointed to replace the ailing Abe Martin.

Vanderbilt—The school promised to move quickly in replacing Jack Green, who quit Sunday.

LaRue, coach at Arizona since 1959, compiled a 41-37-2 record, but his clubs were 3-7 in each of the last two years.

Taylor, an assistant at TCU since 1953, replaces Martin, who was stricken with a heart attack two weeks ago. Martin had been head coach since 1953 and athletic director since 1963. He continues in the latter position.

Martin's overall record was 74-63-7 and his clubs won the Southwest Conference title in 1955 and 1958 and tied for the crown in 1959.

Among those mentioned prominently for the Vanderbilt post are Georgia assistant Bill Dooley, Arkansas assistant Johnny Majors, Virginia Tech head Coach Jerry Claiborne and Miami of Ohio Coach Bo Schembechler.

At the University of Wisconsin, nine persons were interviewed at a night meeting of the athletic board, which is seeking to find a replacement for Milt Bruhn who resigned after the Badgers posted a 3-6-1 mark this season.

Notre Dame in Front by 34 Points

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's Notre Dame by a more solid first-place margin over Michigan State while Alabama is a stronger third in The Associated Press' next-to-last major college football poll of the 1966 season.

The Fighting Irish moved in front by 34 points this week after finishing their season with a smashing 51-0 conquest of Rose Bowl-bound Southern California.

Notre Dame led the second-ranked Spartans by only three points a week ago after the teams battled to a 10-10 tie in Michigan State's final game. The No. 1 and No. 2 teams each finished with a 9-0-1 record.

Alabama, the defending national champion and the only major team with an unbeaten record, trails Notre Dame by 78 points and Michigan State by 44. A week ago, the Crimson Tide was 89 points behind the Irish and 86 behind the Spartans.

The Tide rolled over Southern Mississippi 34-0 for their ninth victory last Saturday. The final poll will be taken next week after Alabama completes its regular season by playing Auburn at Birmingham, Ala., this Saturday.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 52 sports writers and broadcasters, Notre Dame collected 505 points while

Michigan State had 471 and Alabama 427.

The Irish were given sole possession of first place by 35 voters while five others put them in a tie for the top spot with Michigan State. The Spartans were given undisputed top ranking by only five voters.

Each team received 10 points on a tie ballot with the rest of the points distributed on the regular basis of 9 for a second place vote, 8 for third 7 for fourth etc. Two selectors placed Notre Dame and Michigan State in a second-place tie while making Alabama No. 1.

In all, Notre Dame received 10 votes for first place, nine for second and three for third. Michigan State drew 10 first-place votes, 36 for second place, five for third and one for fourth. Alabama collected seven votes for the opposition, three for second, 37 for third, four for fourth, and one for fifth.

Georgia, UCLA, Nebraska, Purdue, Georgia Tech, Miami of Florida and Southern Methodist complete the Top Ten in that order.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points:

Michigan Students Grow Insistent in Their Demands

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Student leaders called for a mass sit-in today at the University of Michigan as a "show of strength" in their demands for a role in decisions now made by university officials.

Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, one of the largest universities in the nation with 33,000 students, moved to head off growing antagonism by students. He postponed a controversial ban against sit-ins and ordered re-examination of the ban by a committee of students, faculty and administration. He said he is establishing a similar commission to study the question of "student participation in university decision-making."

Leaders of three student groups posted notice of an all-campus rally at noon today. They said they would ask students at the rally to march on the administration building and sit down in the halls to enforce their demands.

Edward Robinson, 21, president of the Student Government Council which has broken off official relations with the university, said he would urge the do if the administration does not give students the place in the university that they want.

Robinson, a senior from Haverford, Pa., was joined in the appeal by Michael Szwed of Birmingham, Mich., chairman of Students for a Democratic Society, and Douglas Ross, a Detroit who is president of U-M Young Democrats.

Hatcher told the faculty senate Monday night "the general policy against disruption of the university cannot be abrogated."

But he said the university's ban against sit-ins that disrupt orderly processes of administration will not be put into effect.

Postal Savings Accounts Are To Be Closed

Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding more than $147 million in the now obsolete program which was discontinued by Congress on Mar. 28, 1966.

As of April 27, 1966, postal savings were discontinued, and no deposits were accepted by the Post Office Department. Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment. Those whose anniversary dates fall between now and next April 26 will receive interest until their next anniversary dates but they can be cashed at any time and a proportionate amount of interest will be paid.

After April 26, 1967, no interest will be earned by any postal savings accounts, Circleville Postmaster Charles Walters said.

Postmaster Walters suggests that all postal savings depositors close out their accounts as soon as convenient so they can put their funds to more productive use. He also reminded depositors that U. S. Savings Bonds paying a current rate of 4 1/2 per cent interest, if held to maturity, are an excellent investment for both safety and income.

On July 1 of next year, remaining funds in the program will be turned over to the Treasury Department. There they will be deposited in a fund, where they will remain available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

AFL-CIO Membership Is Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO said today it swelled the ranks of organized labor by about 1 million members in the past three years, reversing seven lean years of dwindling membership.

Latest figures show that "AFL-CIO unions broke all recent yearly records for organizational success in fiscal 1966," the big labor federation reported.

Membership has "continued to move upward" in the five months since the end of the fiscal year, a spokesman said.

The gains bring a total membership of the AFL-CIO's 129 unions to a record high of approximately 13.5 million, the spokesman said.

Approximately 2.7 million more workers belong to independent unions not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The new evidence of steadily advancing membership eases one of the chief worries of many labor leaders that unions were losing ground in the growing and rapidly changing economy.

The number of "blue collar" factory workers has dropped sharply in recent years, but the over-all gains indicate labor success in signing up white collar office workers and employees in the expanding service trades. The AFL-CIO noted the gain of almost 244,000 members in fiscal 1966 followed "sharp gains" in 1964 and 1965.

The figures are based on employed, dues-paying workers — excluding workers on strike and retired members, which many unions often use to fatten official membership figures.

The three-year rise brought total membership up from 12.4 million members in 1963, the lowest point since 1955 when the federation was formed in the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Mere People Don't Matter Of Course

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To 500 Christmas season postal workers who haven't been paid here, there was the knowledge that the mixup had been accomplished in the most modern way.

Their first paychecks, due last Friday, failed to make it through the Automated Postal Data Center at San Mateo. The center handles payrolls for California, Nevada, Hawaii and the Pacific islands.

"The center apparently couldn't handle the sudden rush of new work," said Charles Harper, San Francisco Post Office executive, who indicated the rest of the region might have been affected as well.

Joseph Leone, acting president of the United Federation of Post Office Clerks, Local 2, said the seasonal workers probably won't be paid until next year.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, Nov. 29 the 333rd day of 1966. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1760, Detroit was surrendered by the French to the British at the end of the French and Indian War.

On this date: In 1825, the first Italian opera to be presented in the United States, Rossini's "Barber of Seville," was conducted in New York.

In 1832, American author Louisa May Alcott was born.

In 1899, the United States, Switzerland and France granted diplomatic recognition to the new republic of Brazil.

In 1942, Russia severed diplomatic relations with Finland.

In 1942, the rationing of coffee went into effect throughout America.

Five years ago—In what was planned as the final test prior to the orbiting of the first American astronaut, U.S. scientists at Cape Canaveral sent a male chimpanzee on a two-orbit test space flight and recovered him safely.

One year ago — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said, after a visit to South Viet Nam: "We have stopped losing the war."

RETIREES — Robin C. Jones, yard operator at the Picway Generating Station of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., has retired after 28 years with the company. Jones and his wife, Lucille reside at 128 N. Pickaway St. They have two children and four grandchildren.

Truman Capote Gives Ball for All the Beautiful People

NEW YORK (AP) — It was hard to decide who was belle of Truman Capote's much-touted masked ball Monday night. Lynda Bird Johnson, Kay Graham or agile Alice Roosevelt Longworth — but there was no doubt that he was the host with the most, the idol of the "in" crowd.

The President's glamorous elder daughter — a working girl — danced until 2 a.m. with several partners.

The honored guest, publisher Kay Graham, sat out few of the dances.

Mrs. Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, sat out the dance tunes by Peter Duchin and the Soul Brothers. Nevertheless, she was surrounded until the wee hours by various personalities.

At one time, at the same red-clothed table, sat three members of White House families—Lynda Bird chatting animatedly with Mrs. Longworth while Margaret Truman Daniel listened.

For endurance on the dance floor the prizes went to Lauren Bacall and bearded Jerome Robbins, who danced until they were wet with perspiration.

late president's mother, Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, arrived early in the evening while Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's sister, was a glittering latecomer in a silver bugle-headed dress.

Celebrities were plentiful at this imaginative party given in the grand ballroom of the Plaza Hotel at 59th Street and Fifth Avenue.

Throaty Tallulah Bankhead was "darling-ing" everybody from Leonard Bernstein to the Peter Lind Hayes. At the next table, a contingent of nine from Garden City, Kan., watched the doings of the beautiful people. They included Alvin Dewey and his wife. He was an investigator for the Kansas Bureau of Investigation, and a principal figure in Capote's book, "In Cold Blood."

Capote set the fashion tone by insisting that his female guests wear black or white. Most wore combinations of the two. The ladies and some of the gentlemen could be seen with themselves in the most fantastically expensive masks.

Most ladies' masks were sprays of feathers twinkling with gems. John Gunther, author of those "Inside" books, kept his face inside a book-like box.

As for Capote, he wore a 35-cent mask from a Manhattan toy store.
